

Lafayette

"The saddest words of tongue or pen. Are simply these, 'clean house again.'"

The Auble farm which was disposed of Saturday last at public auction was sold to Samuel Poots, a well-known farmer of Brunswick, for $9000. Mr. Poots having retired from active farm life, this purchase is very likely an investment for speculation on his part. Much of the personal property—pedigreed stock and high-priced tools, went very low and some may recall that the price, $9,000, is exactly the same price the late Gull Damon received for the farm fully twelve years ago or more.

Mr. and Mrs. James Geddon of Cleveland were Sunday visitors at the Geo. Ballash home.

Mr. and Mrs. Near Riddle entertained at a dinner party Sunday, their guests being Mrs. Riddle's parents, John Hershey and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Will Riddle and two sons, Park and Harry, and Mr. and Mrs. Ross Farley, all of Lodi.

J. B. Ault was another of Lafayette's old veterans to attend the Grand Army encampment at Indianapolis last week.

Mrs. John Lance of Chatham road gave a surprise dinner in honor of her husband's birthday, Sunday, but no amount of persuasion will induce this Mr. John to tell how many years young he is. The occasion proved to be most enjoyable to the guests, who were, Abram Lance, the Charles Schlechty family, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lance and Mrs. Belle Clark, who postponed her trip to her daughters home until later.

Mrs. W. F. Rose met with a very painful accident Sunday morning. She was assisting with the chores at the barn when she stepped upon a pitchfork, running about three-inches of a tine into her foot. She was taken at once to a Lodi doctor, who dressed the wound, but it still causes her considerable suffering.

Edna Lance was hostess Saturday afternoon to a party of her little friends who comprise her class in Sunday school. Games and dainty refreshments featured the afternoon's enjoyment.

Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Kulp spent Sunday in Litchfield at the home of the latter's parents, Irvin Broadsword and wife.

Many from around here will attend Wooster fair the weather permitting, those whose names we have learned thus far being, Claude Blanton and wife, Jesse Bowman and wife, the Sam Kulp family, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Snyder, John H. Lance and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Rendon-Hoff and family and Herman Ault and wife.

Clarence Armbruster, one of Platt Forkett's helpers at the Infirmary, underwent an operation at the Lodi hospital last week, and is getting along very nicely.

C. S. Stickney returned to Buffalo Saturday evening after spending three weeks with relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Aumstutz (nee) Edith Dethric of Rittman, were looking up old friends and associates here Sunday, also calling at the old Dethric home, now owned by the Ed. Lehman family.

The Samuel Kulp home was the scene of much enjoyment and pleasure Sunday evening, when the C. E. Lance family did justice to a beautiful birthday luncheon given in honor of their daughter, Dessie, Mrs. Blake Kulp. These get-together occasions are always times of real joy to this family and this recent event proved no exception to the rule.

John Sanders of Cleveland accompanied his sister-in-law, Mrs. Laura Davis Witter and children to the home of her father, Quincy Davis, and wife, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Curtice and family visited relatives in South Brooklyn Sunday.

Susan Lehman was unlucky enough to sprain her ankle last week when jumping from the wagon to the ground.

Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Lowe and daughter Jessie of the Lake were dinner guests at the Irvin Snyder home Sunday.

A party of friends, Ned Alexander and wife and Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Indoe of Mallet Creek, attended the fair at Attica Wednesday. Mr. Indoe's fast pacer being on track at that time.

School attendance in Mr. Bart's room last month was 100 per cent, and in Mrs. Caskey's room it was 98.6. Can you beat it?

Mrs. C. L. Bart was able to resume her duties in the primary room Monday.

C. L. Bart is at the Wooster fair this week as a judge of penmanship. Miss Ardis Merrick is substituting for him in the school.

Mrs. Fretz went to Shelby again Saturday and expects to spend the winter there with her daughter.

B. L. Cassady moved his family Saturday into the Mrs. Henry Young house on East Main street.

We have a man in our town who is 75 years old, and he has husked and cribbed five acres of corn and finished the last day of September. Pretty hard to beat isn't it?

Say, did you notice what the Chippewa Lake school did at the Medina fair? Pretty nifty, we think, when a two-room country school can trim up the big towns.

The Chippewa Lake people are entertaining pedigree dogs from all over the U. S. this week. There are field trials—or will be rather, if the rain will hold off a little while, and other stunts peculiar to such meetings.

Last week the supervisor graded the road east of the city from the railroad to the township line. Some travelers coming in from the east thought they were grading for an electric line; others concluded it was an extension of the Panama Canal to our town. Some made rather caustic remarks about the condition of the road and our county surveyor came down and he also "made a few remarks" that he never learned from his Sunday school teacher. But the road is passable now and everything is lovely.

We would appreciate it if every family in our territory that reads this letter would send us at least one item for next week's letter. We want to report all of the happenings, and the only way we can do it is for you to help. Will you do it?

Lee Cammarn and Clyde Moore drove down to Coshocton county Sunday and hunted squirrels Monday. They report seeing plenty of squirrels but didn't bring home enough to affect the market to any extent.

Mrs. H. S. Koppes got one of her hands caught in the clothes wringer Monday and was quite severely injured.

The Philanthropist of Business...

THE days when the printer was the guest of the king too quickly gave way to the times when men looked upon him as a philanthropist in business.

THE demands for extra care and time was never paid for, mainly because the printer never thought he had the right to charge for them. Under less pressing economic conditions the printer usually managed to eke out a bare existence.

TODAY, the materials that enter printing—paper, ink, machinery and labor—have a spot cash value. The printer must charge for every service and material in order to remain in business. As a buyer of printing remember this: A printer cannot be a good printer for any appreciable time unless he gets a reasonable return for work done. A decent return for good work and a fair hearing on how to turn out good work are the two biggest factors in the production of better printing.

THE seeker for cheap printing can always buy that commodity. Everybody who sees it will know that it is cheap. It will be worth as much as he paid for it.

ON the other hand, buyers of good printing are getting more for their money than ever before. This is so because the workmanship, the printing machinery, and the printing materials are better; and because the public is a better judge of good printing.

PEOPLE who want the better class of printing patronize THE MEDINA SENTINEL. A trial will convince.

Taste is a matter of tobacco quality

We state it as our honest belief that the tobaccos used in Chesterfield are of finer quality (and hence of better taste) than in any other cigarette at the price.
